Blogs and Web-Based Publications

I started my research weblog www.thijsporck.com/blog in November 2015. Thus far, my blog has attracted 350,000 page views by 250,000 individual visitors. On average, my blog currently receives 1,000 views per week.

Guest blogs of mine have appeared on various blogs, including Brill Language & Linguistics Blog; KennisLink; medievalfragments; digventures.com; seafurrers.com; Leiden Medievalists Blog; Leiden Special Collections Blog; Leiden Arts in Society Blog. For an overview, see <https://thijsporck.com/press-and-popularization/guestblogs/>

I am also one of the three co-founders and one of the three main editors of the Leiden Medievalists Blog: <http://www.leidenmedievalistsblog.nl>

Social Media (Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, Podcast)

- In 2012, I started the Facebook group 'Old English Enthusiasts', which has over 450 members to date - all students and alumni of my courses Old English. The group has developed into an ever-growing network for Dutch people with an interest in Old English and early medieval England.
- I was one of the two editors of the Facebook page 'Medieval Studies in Leiden' (2016-2020).
- I have an active Twitter account (since May 2016), which currently has over 4,400 followers.
- My YouTube videos on Old English and Tolkien (available here: <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCIh0ZR1WZhzhQf5WikkGeUA>) have been watched over 180,000 times.
- I am one of the creators of the Dutch podcast 'Middeleeuwse Toestanden' (2021-), a podcast about myths and misconceptions of the Middle Ages.

Other

I have been interviewed on national TV (RTL 4), by local and national newspapers (NRC; Trouw) and radio stations (Omroep Max; NOS; VPRO) about my research. For an overview, see <https://thijsporck.com/press-and-popularization/>

My efforts in outreach were rewarded with the LUCAS Public Engagement Award 2020 (1.500 EUR).
